

Alex Roth
www.alexrothmusic.com

This policy outlines how I use data that you provide through use of my website or by signing up to my mailing list. It does not provide exhaustive detail; if you would like more information or explanation about anything herein please get in touch via my contact page.

I respect your privacy and I will only use the information that you provide as permitted by current legislation, including the Data Protection Act (1998) and the General Data Protection Regulation (2016).

As with most other websites, my website stores cookies (small text files) on your device to improve your browsing experience. No personal information is included in these files and you can normally choose to disable cookies on your device settings.

If you sign up to my mailing list, the only information I collect about you will be your name and email address. This information is stored securely in a password-protected account on the website I use to send newsletters. I will only use this information to let you know about events and activities relating to my music.

If you contact me via my website, I collect the same information (name and email address) along with any additional message you have sent me. This information is stored securely in a separate password-protected account. I may also add your email address to my mailing list to keep you informed about activities relating to my music.

By disclosing your personal information in any of the above ways, you consent to the collection, storage and processing of this information by me in the manner set out in this policy. You can check the information that I hold about you by emailing me. You can update your settings or unsubscribe from my communications at any time by clicking the link in the footer of any email you receive from me, or by emailing me. You can also request that I delete any or all of your information, and I will promptly do so.

This policy was last updated on 23rd May 2018.

Now, how about some MUSIC?